KNO MOTION REGARDING KIRKWOOD BOUNDARIES
5/10/2016

The Kirkwood Neighbors Organization (KNO) formally opposes any re-drawing of Kirkwood's boundaries, including KNO opposition to reported proposals regarding boundaries to the west and south.

The Kirkwood Neighbors Organization (KNO) finds the historical record is clear regarding Kirkwood's boundaries, both as an incorporated city 1893-1926 and as a distinct City of Atlanta historical neighborhood on the National Historical Register.

The Kirkwood Neighbors Organization (KNO) finds that Kirkwood's neighborhood boundaries are well documented by the below, among many other documents:

2016 City of Atlanta NPU-O Neighborhoods Map – No changes
1995 City of Atlanta Kirkwood Map - No changes
1978 NPU-O Map with Neighborhoods - No changes
1977 City of Atlanta Planning Map - No changes
1952 City of Atlanta Neighborhoods Map – Woodbine, Montgomery, Dekalb Memorial Park no changes.
1915 City of Kirkwood Map – Woodbine, Montgomery, future Dekalb Memorial Park no changes.

The Kirkwood Neighbors Organization (KNO) finds that Kirkwood's current boundaries originated through successive re-incorporations of the City of Kirkwood by the Georgia legislature c. 1899-1914 that expanded Kirkwood to the west (Montgomery) and south of Memorial (Dekalb Memorial Park).

REFERENCES

Planning Atlanta - A New City in the Making, 1930's – 1990's
Atlanta Planning Map Collection
University Library, Georgia State University
http://digitalcollections.library.gsu.edu/cdm/planningatl

Acts and Resolutions of the General Assembly of the State of Georgia
Compiled and Published by Authority of the State
1899, PP. 233, Number 394
1908, PP. 818, Number 514
1910, pp. 798, Number 553
1914, pp. 933, Number 420

Titled "Kirkwood, Town of, New Charter" or "Kirkwood, Town of, Charter Amended"

NPU-O Neighborhoods Map
City of Atlanta Department of Planning 2016
http://www.atlantaga.gov/modules/showdocument.aspx?documentid=2697